BY J. L. KIMBRO
ALABAMA HAS NO NEED FOR
"QUICKIE" DIVORCE LAW

Instead of wasting our breath criticizing Russia and other nations about their "iron curtain" and secret censorship, we better be going after our secret censorship here in the U. S. According to "wooly head" John, those who did it, or those who know who did it, are not allowed to tell the public. So, we cannot say that the Senate Committee investigating our "iron curtain" censorship.

Censorship that is wrong for Russia, is no better for us. And especially censorship that keeps facts from the people of our own country.

The more of such iron curtain censorship I know we have the less confidence I have in what they do tell us.

The most scandalous thing we ever had in Alabama is the "quickie" divorce law we have had in recent years. But, happily, we have a bar association in Alabama that has become disgusted with the rotten mess and has urged lawyers to quit taking divorce cases they know to be crooked beyond every reasonable application of the law. Most of them have at least heightened down on the crookedness and the State's divorce rate has dropped around 500 a month. It ought to drop another 500 a month. It still is enough to disgrace the name of any state.

BEWARE OF USELESS
RHEUMATIC CURES.

Our ancestors believed that if they turned their shoes upside down by the heel before retiring it would cure rheumatism.

Of course you know better. But many useless and potentially harmful remedies and gadgets are still being sold to the thoughtless. Ask our opinion before buying any remedy, particularly those sold by mail or peddlars. We sincerely believe anyone with rheumatic pains should depend on their physician for advice on what to take.

liberals. With the help of conservative Republicans in congress, they have often been able to defeat the program of the reds and pinks. I hope to see them keep up the good work they are doing.

PECAN TREES WILL PRODUCE
HIGH YIELDS PROPERLY
CARED FOR EACH YEAR

For pecan trees to be thrifty, heavy bearing trees, they must have proper care from the beginning.

The grower should begin fertilizing his trees from the time of setting them out, and continue to fertilize them year after year. The benefit of fertilizing can be seen by comparing the yield of trees that grow around the horse lot, cowpen and around the gaps where livestock roam.

Pecans are profitable to the grower who cares for them. No farm crop is more responsive to proper fertilization. Auburn recommends an 8-8-8 formula with zinc. Ready mixed Pecan Fertilizer can be bought, or the zinc may be bought and added by the grower. An average tree 15 to 20 years of age should produce 100 pounds of this mixture. Large older trees should have more. For young trees, less is better. It is getting late in the season now to fertilize pecans for best results, but if it hasn't been done, do it now.

ECLECTIC MAYOR DONATES
HEAVILY TO HIS TOWN
ACCORDING TO REPORTS

The little town of Eclectic, Alabama, has a mayor who does more for his town than any other mayor I have ever heard of. He goes down into his own pocket and pays for his town's improvements. He has done it more than once.

He recently went down in his jeans and came up with a hundred thousand dollars as a gift to his town. For a little country town of something like a hundred population, a hundred thousand dollars is quite a haul of dough. And, according to reports, that is the second time it has been a hundred thousand at the time, besides a few lesser amounts.

The town of Eclectic is some 30 miles northeast of Montgomery, and the mayor is John W. Castleberry. Most any town in Alabama would like to swap mayors with Eclectic—that is, if he still has a few more hundred thousand dollars stowed down in his jeans.

SOUTHERN CONGRESSMEN AND SENATORS ARE USUALLY
KNOWN AS CONSERVATIVES

On a percentage basis, Alabama's congressmen supported Kennedy's program as follows: Andrews, 69; Grant, 45; Boykin, 54; Selden, 75; Huddleston, 75; Jones, 62; Raines, 69; Roberts, 43; Elliott, 52. Senator Hill gave the administration 31 percent of the vote, and Senator Sparkman, 73 percent.

In Georgia, percentage-wise congressmen supported the administration as follows: Bilch, 25; James C. Davis, 18; John W. Davis, 69; Flint, 34; Forrester, 40; Hagan, 58; Landrum, 49; Pilecher, 42; Stephens, 52; Vinson, 62. Senator Russell supported the administration 31 percent of the time, and Senator Talmadge supported it 41 percent of the time.

Southern congressmen and senators are generally, but not all, known as conservatives. The most of them have contributed their strength and votes in congress to the defeat of the program of the world, soggy-legged that has been well fertilized will grow limbs that are well branched and tapering from the trunk outward, giving it extra strength. The long, slender limb is easily broken off. Excess length and stenderness of the limbs, and the scarcity of branches and tips on them, is a sure indication that the tree is not getting the fertilizer that it needs.

Pecan branches are highly competitive between themselves for the substance they must have to grow. The strongest branch gets the advantage of the weaker ones to the same end, causing the weak ones to dwarf and finally perish while the stronger one continues year after year to add length but not much strength and but few tips, the older tips perishing as fast as new ones are added.

Perhaps the most mysterious and less understood characteristic of a pecan tree is that to produce it must have both male and female branches. The male characteristics is in the bloom which grows on last year's wood. The female characteristics is at the very tip of new growth, the female branches. A trained tree can discern the difference before any of the leaves are half grown. The male flowers are small, light-colored, sticky substance appears at the flower end. Three or four days later the light-colored substance turns dark. The nut then has been pollinated or is too late. If it has received pollen the nut will begin growing about a week. If it has failed to receive pollen, it will shrivel and fall away.

A well fertilized, thrifty pecan tree will produce healthier nut forms and a more liberal helping of the essential light-colored substance and make it more effective in catching and drinking in the fertile pollen which is produced by the male bloom in a fine, yellow dust and carried by shifting and rising warm air to the point of contact with the sticky substance in the flower end of the embryo nut form. Too much rain at this period will interfere with pollination, but, fortunately, pecan pollination comes at a time when we usually do not have too much rain in this area.

In my study and experiments with pecans I am well convinced, but do not yet have sufficient proof to justify a positive claim, that there are strains of pecans of any and all varieties that are more or less fruitful because they are more limbable or less able to catch and drink in the male pollen.

Miss Suzanne Hayes Is Beautifully Complimented At Bridal Shower Here

The lovely home of Mrs. Loyd Crook was the scene of a bridal shower Saturday afternoon for Miss Suzanne Hayes, a popular bride-elect.

Miss Hayes has selected yellow and white for her wedding and the hostesses used this color theme for the shower.

The long table in the dining room was overlaid with white net over yellow. Small clusters of miniature mums and lily fern caught in bows of yellow satin ribbon with long streamers at each corner of the table.

In the center front of the table there was a massive box of soft yellow satin ribbon with streamers extending to the floor. The table's central decoration was a bride doll on a plaque against a double golden wedding band arrangement.

Beside the doll there was a cluster of yellow and white mums with delicate greenery.

On one end of the table was placed a silver coffee service. On the other end a silver branched chandelier holding graceful yellow tapers nestled in soft fluted net.

Silver trays of individual mimosas, cakes and silver canisters filled with nuts added to the beauty of the table.

An artistic fan-shaped bouquet of yellow daffodils backed against a slightly higher arrangement of white flowers on the buffet was flanked by a can of baby's breath and a can of baby's breath.

Guests were met by Mrs. Loyd Crook. Those seated at the table were Mrs. Mary Madden, Mrs. Charles Hayes II, the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Loyd Crook and Mrs. Sam Boswell, a relative.

Mrs. Linda Crook was seated at one end of the table and served coffee. Mrs. Sandra Farris served cakes and nuts. Miss Kathy Roberts refilled the punch and Miss Polly Ann Crawford served them to the girls' room.

The honoree wore a beautiful blue and white dress made of sheer tulle. Her flowers were white carnations in a shoulder bag.

Hostesses were Mrs. Linda Crook, Mrs. Kathy Roberts, Mrs.

Rattlesnake Hunt Is Organized In Area By Buster Bowdoin

February isn't the month to see rattlesnakes crawling around but in gopher holes, that's a different story.

That slithering, ugly, rattling reptile that scares you half to death hunts a winter home when cold weather comes along. Gopher holes, stump holes, under rocks or in caves. No matter where as long as he's hidden away until warm weather brings him out next spring.

Rattlesnakes are a menace to hunters playing children and a serious problem in peanut, cotton and corn fields at harvest time. They also take their toll in wildlife each year.

A snake hunt during February will rid Coffee County of these enemies, believes Buster Bowdoin of Enterprise, Route 1. "It will be our first hunt and I'm looking for a lot of rattlesnakes to be sacked up."

The Goodman community farmer became interested in a snake hunt when he visited a snake show in Florida last winter. There he saw more than 60 captured snakes.

Prizes will be given for many different catches—biggest snake, longest snake, most caught, largest number of rattlers, etc. Mr. Speed says.

"After I got home I went out one morning and caught four snakes in gopher holes in the woods," says Bowdoin.

He pours one-half cup of gasoline in holes and out comes the snake. Sometimes, a flashlight shining into the mouth of a hole reveals a snake, rears the reptile enthusiast.

"My reason for a hunt," explains Bowdoin, "are to save human lives, protect wildlife and birds. I've lost several dogs due to rattlesnake bites in the past."

High point of the Spearhead division's annual training cycle, the training included day and night tactical exercises emphasizing cold weather training, mobility and chemical, biological and radiological warfare. An essential part of the training was range firing of individual and team-served weapons including the Army's new M-60 machine gun and the 105 and 120-millimeter tank guns.

The 3rd, a major element of NATO forces in Europe plays an essential role in maintaining world peace.

The construction under the base bid shall consist generally of constructing a one-story wood frame building with exterior walls brick veneered to house a health center.

The work shall consist of all general construction and mechanical and electrical work to give a type II fire-resistive structure complete with all site improvements.

The construction under alternate Number 4 shall consist generally of constructing a one-story brick and concrete block masonry building to house a health center. The work shall consist of all general construction and mechanical and electrical work to give a type II fire-resistive structure complete with all site improvements.

Proposed form of contract documents, including drawings and specifications relative thereto, may be examined at the office of the Architects, 1914-1/2 Airport Boulevard, Mobile, Alabama; the F. W. Dodge Corporation plan rooms in Mobile, Montgomery, and Birmingham, Alabama; the Birmingham Builders' Exchange plan room in Birmingham, Alabama; the Construction Industries Association, Mobile, Alabama; and the Atlanta Builders' Exchange, Atlanta, Georgia.

One complete set of drawings and specifications may be obtained by general contractors on written request to the Architects and upon deposit of fifty dollars ($50.00) per set. Deposit will be refunded upon receipt of a bona fide bid and upon return of drawings and specifications in good condition within seven (7) days from date of bid opening; otherwise, deposit will be forfeited.

Additional sets of drawings and specifications may be obtained on request to the Architects.

Interest On Dividends Must Be Reported By V.A. Pensioners

Veterans receiving pension or compensation checks are again asking the Veterans Administration this time of year, "Is my VA check considered to be income and must I report it on my income tax return?"

The answer, Neil R. Smart, manager of the VA Regional Office in Montgomery, says, is no.

Veterans benefits are tax-free. These benefits which do not need to be reported include disability compensation and pension, dividends on GI insurance policies, education and training allowances, subsistence allowances for disabled veterans receiving vocational training, grants on homes for "wheelchair living," grants for dependent veterans, and death benefits paid to survivors.

The only exception is interest earned by GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA. It is only the interest earned by the Veterans Farmers Exchange, of Dothan, Joe Spikes of the State and Federal Inspection Service and Joe Lashley, assistant county agent.

Akerman had very valuable and interesting information concerning the packing, handling and marketing of vegetables. He also showed motion pictures on the subject which were enlightening.

Speed and Lashley offered their help in the selection of seed, plants and fertilizers. The best vegetables for marketing at the Wiregrass Farmers Market at Dothan, according to County Agent Speed and Lashley are the peas, pole beans, bush beans, coll.

Don't try to oil a door or car lock. Instead, oil the key and insert it, turning it back and forth a few times to distribute the oil.

"And equipment" has now been extended by government-in-business advocates far beyond the obvious intent of Congress, to authorize loans to rural electric cooperatives (at 2%, remember) such as:

• $280,000 for relending to a local company to install equipment and machinery in restoring its burned-out millwork plant and to another company growing and processing seed potatoes;

• $25,000 for relending to a company for purchase and installation of gravel-crushing and washing machinery;

• $30,000 for relending to a resort area for the purchase of a snow-making machine! There undoubtedly are others.

The inevitable result is to make up the difference by increasing the already heavy income taxes on those who DO pay income taxes.

President Kennedy also has wondered, it is reported, why business should feel that members of his administration are hostile to business. Could you want a stronger example than the loan policy of the Rural Electrification Administration, whose deliberations are conducted under a cloak of secrecy?

We think it is time for citizens to speak out to their elected representatives in protest against such unnecessary government expenditures; against secrecy in matters where the taxpayer's money is involved, against income tax favoritism, and against government loans at an interest rate lower than the government has to pay.

When a government agency, or a governmentally subsidized one such as the co-ops, operates an income-tax-free business, government revenues permanently are reduced. Thus the use of government funds to build unneeded electric generating plants and transmission facilities is not constructive, but is destructive.

Through this advertisement, copies of which are being sent to public officials, we the undersigned are so speaking out. You can likewise by letter and telephone. While we are signing this advertisement as directors of Alabama Power Company who are not officers or employees, the viewpoint expressed reflects our unanimous opinion as individuals.

Electric Cooperatives Asks For Hearing On Power Dispute

Montgomery — Electric cooperatives of Central and South Alabama have announced that in order to protect the interests of their members, they would ask to be heard in proceedings before the Alabama Public Service Commission today, in connection with a petition of Alabama Power Company for authority to issue and sell additional securities.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wise, Paul and Teresa Wise were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Gilchrist last Saturday.

Mrs. Robert Wise attended the 50th anniversary of Girl's Auxiliary Promotional Conference in Birmingham at the Woodlawn Baptist Church last Monday and Tuesday.

Mrs. Esther Mae Smith, Paul and Ann Smith were guests of Mrs. Kate Baker and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Burkes last Sunday night.

"The $20 million expansion of Alabama Electric's facilities will

Alabama Rural Electric Association of Cooperatives, speaking for the group, issued the following statement:

"We would like to find out whether Alabama Power Company plans to raise funds to carry out further duplication of facilities of electric cooperatives, for the purpose of encroaching or attempting to entice away additional co-op consumers.

"Electric cooperatives have had the unhappy experience of seeing hundreds of miles of their lines duplicated by Alabama Power Company lines. Such activities threaten the future security and well being of the electric cooperatives. They also place in jeopardy the ability of the electric cooperatives to continue service to remote rural areas, and to repay loans previously secured from the Rural Electrification Administration for that purpose.

"Alabama Power Company has said it will try to block efforts of our electric cooperatives to provide their own source of wholesale electric power through expansion of power production facilities of the Alabama Electric Cooperative, an association of electric co-ops and municipal power systems.

"The $20 million expansion of Alabama Electric's facilities will provide a friendly and secure source of wholesale power for our member systems, under more favorable terms and conditions than those available from Alabama Power Company.

"If Alabama Power Company should meet with success in its efforts to block this development, the future of the rural electrification program — which brought light out of darkness for Alabama farms — would be in jeopardy.

"For this reason, it is important that we have information as to future plans of Alabama Power Company as they may relate to any additional duplication of co-op facilities. We feel this is in the best interest of the electric cooperatives and the power-using public in general.

"Electric cooperatives expected to join in the proceedings are:

Q. What kind of business institutions—these Electric Co-ops?

A. They have brought light and power to Alabama farms and rural homes, schools and churches where there was no power or light before. They have made possible the decentralization of industry into rural areas. They have opened up a vast new market for all sorts of electrical goods and services.

Rural Electrics are free enterprise at its best — good for all Alabama.

Fence-sitting isn't the safest occupation for the small fry, even if it is fun. But fence-sitting for grown-ups is neither safe nor fun!

A man has to take a stand. He must let the world know his convictions. He must live them!

The principles in which we believe can perish while we dawdle uncommitted, uncertain or unchurched.

Behind the iron curtain men who are determined to overthrow freedom and faith hide neither their communism nor their atheism.

Here in America on a Sunday morning, no man can afford to sit on the fence if he believes in God, and in the right to worship Him in the Church of his choice.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, modern democracy and civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs financial and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.
